

Careers Websites

You can use the following websites to support your careers research:

SACU

Sacu offer free impartial careers information. They have a great careers quiz (The Spartan Test) that we'd recommend you try and a personal statement checker.

Barclays Life Skills

Developed by Barclays Bank, Life Skills is a free employability programme to develop your confidence, skills and knowledge to succeed in the workplace.

Careerometer

Careerometer is a useful tool which enables you to compare the working hours and average wages of job roles in the UK that you're interested in pursuing.

Springpod

Springpod is a careers platform that allows you to experience the world of work and university before you apply. They have a great range of virtual work experience opportunities.

Apprenticeships.gov.uk

Find out lots of information about apprenticeships on this government website. You can access guides about apprenticeships and search current vacancies.

UCAS

The ultimate site for all things university related. Compare and apply for university courses. You are also able to research and apply for apprenticeships and internship opportunities.

icould

Watch real life careers videos and read guides and advice that's sorted by job type or subject.

Start

The Start website allows you to conduct research into industries and learn about the types of jobs on offer within them.

Careermap

Contains lots of information about employers, career advice as well as access to their 'Careermag' publication.

Unifrog

Unifrog has lots of careers quizzes to complete, webinars to watch and careers profiles to explore.
